

Health Care and Human Services Policy Research and Consulting

STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

The Lewin Group helps state and local government organizations design, implement and improve the programs they regulate and administer.

Our experts:

- Develop, apply and evaluate policies and programs
- Educate stakeholders about program options
- Gather and incorporate feedback into program operations

OVERVIEW

The Lewin Group has more than 45 years' experience in successful hands-on program development, implementation and evaluation of health care, long-term care and human services programs. Using this insight, we help governments understand their constituents' needs by analyzing the impact of changing program requirements on individuals, program management and budgets. We provide options to help state and local government clients meet those needs within regulatory, political and fiscal realities. In sum, we help our clients identify and address their challenges effectively, efficiently, and with cultural competence.

We bring thought leadership to all of our clients, reflective of our state-specific, national and international experience. Our advice and guidance — grounded in our in-depth, objective analyses of issues and data, and developed with an understanding of the interplay among health and human services programs — helps our clients to target their efforts, use their resources effectively, and avoid unintended consequences.

SERVICES

Our team of experts has more than three decades' experience performing both qualitative and quantitative research and evaluation studies in several areas. Our policy research work includes both long-term studies and quick turnaround policy analyses.

Policy Analysis and Program Evaluation

- Develop cost models and analyze implementation impact
- Evaluate program effectiveness and conduct market analyses of state programs

Technical Assistance and Program Operations

- Conduct program monitoring and performance improvement
- Analyze and develop reimbursement methods (including Medicaid capitation rate development and pay-for-performance)

"The Lewin expertise in modeling health insurance coverage is absolutely superb!"

STATE AGENCY

Program Design and Implementation

- Research regulatory requirements including federal waivers
- Develop value-based purchasing strategies for Medicaid
- Create and enhance care and disease management programs
